

TUC Library Newsletter – September 2016

Each month the Library sends out a brief, online newsletter sharing any current general news and also highlights about different library resources and tools that might be of interest to you.

In between Library newsletters, look at the New in the Library page, or follow the Library on Facebook for current updates.

Staffing News

Librarian Nathaniel Jenkins will be leaving Touro University California effective Thursday, Sept. 22. We wish him all the best in his new position in Sacramento, and our thank you to him for keeping all our electronic resources updated and operational. While the Library is recruiting, the Library will have the help of a temporary librarian, Greer Haputman. Due to the librarian vacancies, librarian reference assistance in the evenings will temporarily be limited to the following:

from Sept. 26 through Nov. 6 – evening librarian reference assistance by appointment only from Nov. 6 until the librarian positions are filled -- Mondays and Thursday evenings to 8 pm; other evenings by appointment.

New Career Guide section

Working with the Dean of Student Services, the Library has begun a compilation of print and e-books pertaining to career development. To access the online list, go to the link for “Career Materials” under “Resources” on the Library website. The collection includes materials on such topics as career choices, preparing resumes, job applications, interviewing. The collection will be enlarged as new pertinent materials are published. Suggestions for additional books or other resources on this topic are welcome.

APA Style Central

APA Style CENTRAL is the only authoritative and complete online environment for teaching, writing, and publishing in APA Style. Designed to help users develop their writing and professional research skills, APA Style CENTRAL combines sophisticated learning and teaching tools, advanced writing and content management technology, and full integration of APA’s best-selling Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association to create an unparalleled web-based suite of integrated services and tools.

The TUC library has a trial to this resource to October 18, 2016.

The five tasks below do not require an account. Users need to create an account to explore all features.

1. Learning Center: View the Quick Guide “Blog Post Reference” and follow the “Learn More” links to view the excerpt from the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association® (6th ed.) and other related links
2. Learning Center: Browse sample references, tables, and figures
3. Research Center: Browse the reference books
4. Writing Center: Start a new paper and browse the paper templates
5. Publishing Center: Search the journals to find one that publishes articles of interest.

Journal Trial: Science Immunology

The TUC library has arranged for a free trial to Science Immunology, the new journal in the AAAS/Science family of journals. This trial will run through December 2016.

TUC users will see the latest original research, reviews, and research resources in areas that encompass the immune and inflammatory responses in health and disease, including autoimmunity, transplantation, and structural biology.

Please send your feedback to Library Director Tamara Trujillo regarding the usefulness of this journal.

PubMed changes

The National Library of Medicine released a bulletin stating changes to website links for PubMed and other databases starting September 30, 2016. It is possible that these changes may cause errors when using the links from the TUC library's website. Should you encounter errors, please use the public link to connect to PubMed instead of the links from the TUC library homepage. The public link is <http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed>

New Library Acquisitions

Follow the link to new purchases of books, e-books, journals and others library materials made for the TUC Library in August 2016. The list also includes gift materials cataloged for TUC Library collection.

PsychiatryOnline Complimentary Book of the Month

The Mental Health Professional in Court

Edited by Thomas G. Gutheil, M.D., and Eric Y. Drogin, J.D., Ph.D

No one wants to appear in court, but in some cases it may be unavoidable. Brief enough to assimilate quickly, yet comprehensive in scope, The Mental Health Professional in Court: A Survival Guide is a reassuring and eminently useful guide designed to help the witness navigate the legal system.

A successor to the popular The Psychiatrist in Court: A Survival Guide, The Mental Health Professional in Court has expanded the scope of the earlier book to include other professionals in the field. The authors have thoroughly updated the text, and provided a comprehensive coverage of legal processes.
