

TUC Library Newsletter – November 2017

LIBRARY NEWS

Electronic Door Access to Library

Upcoming later this semester is testing electronic access to the Library. Students, faculty, and staff will need their ID badge to enter the Library. More news on this will be forthcoming.

Library Fines

Library fines are now payable online at TUC Non-Bursar Transactions. Please contact the Access Services & Instruction Librarian, Amy Castro, with any questions.

Adding Funds for the Printer/Copy Machines

A printer/copier reload machine or cash acceptor is located in the Library. Swipe your student ID badge and deposit coins or bills to add printer/copier funds to your account.

Library Etiquette Reminder

We need and appreciate everyone's assistance and cooperation to maintain a professional environment throughout the TUC Library and to maintain the Library as a conducive and comfortable place for group and individual study. Please be aware of the following Library rules:

- If you consume food on the Library South side or in the Library study rooms, leave the space clean.
- Food for sharing should be placed in the Library Vending Room (Room 206).
- Use indoor voices and keep noise level down on Library South (Collaborative) side.
- No talking or eating in the reading room on the Library North (Silent) side.
- No cell phone use throughout the Library.

RESOURCE NEWS

Nexis Uni™

The library's Lexis Nexis Academic database is now Nexis Uni™. In addition to a new, simplified search screen, Nexis Uni™ features more than 15,000 news, business and legal sources from LexisNexis including U.S. Supreme Court decisions dating back to 1790 with an intuitive interface that offers quick discovery across all content types, personalization features such as Alerts and saved searches and a collaborative workspace with shared folders and annotated documents.

New York Times Online

The Library has acquired a license to the New York Times Online through December 2017. A non-exhaustive list of what is included in the license is below:

All-digital access to nytimes.com, from 1851 to present, including:

- All multimedia, including video, photography, VR features, and all new multimedia to come.
- Spanish and Mandarin Chinese versions of nytimes.com.
- World-class curation that fosters engagement and exploration.

Personalized access to The Times:

- Email newsletters including California Today and The Edit.
- Mobile apps for phones and tablets.
- Customized alerts: instant notifications, or a weekly digest, for a set topic. This greatly simplifies the use of real-time content as curriculum.
- Cross-platform save; any article you save on nytimes.com is easily accessible from any device.
- Article recommendations based on topics you most commonly read about.

The New York Times In Education: Faculty-generated course material to help professors easily integrate The Times into their curriculum.

Please Note: For articles from 1923-1980, each individual user is limited to 5 articles per day, due to a copyright ruling.

Here's a list of nytimes.com sections that are popular with higher education students and faculty:

1. The Upshot - this team takes on major issues through data visualization and data analysis.
2. The Interpreter - this column explores the ideas and context behind major world events.
3. Education Life - covers colleges and universities, teachers, public and private schools, tuition, scholarships, financial aid & student loans.
4. On Campus - features personal essays and art by college students, professors, and administrators on issues affecting higher education and university life.
5. Dealbook - Financial news, edited by Andrew Ross Sorkin.
6. Entrepreneurship - coverage of startups and small businesses.
7. Science Take - combines cutting-edge research from the world of science with stunning footage of the natural world in action.
8. Lens- a photography blog.
9. The Daily 360 - immersive, 360° videos from around the globe.

Continuation after Jan. 1, 2018 of the online subscription to the NYT will depend on the level of use at TUC. To get access go to A-Z Databases page on the Library website and select New York Times from the database list to log in to the NYT registration page to create your account while on campus. If you are off-campus please contact the E-Resources & Instruction Librarian, Alexa Stoneman.

New Journals in the TUC Library

The Library now offers access to two additional journals:

The Annals of Internal Medicine from the American College of Physicians for the years 1993 to the present. To access this journal search for the journal title in the A-Z Journals list on the library website and follow the link to the American College of Physicians.

The Journal of Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities is now available for 3/1/2014 to present. To access this journal search for the journal title in the A-Z Journals list on the library website and follow the link to Ebscohost EJS Enhanced.

New Library Acquisitions

Follow the link to new purchases of books, e-books, and others library materials made for the TUC Library last month. The list also includes gift materials cataloged for TUC Library collection.

Psychiatry Online Book of the Month for November 2017

Preventing Bullying and School Violence by Stuart W. Twemlow, M.D., and Frank C. Sacco, Ph.D.

Coming Soon

NEW DATABASE: Starting on November 15, 2017, the Library will be providing a subscription to the Joanna Briggs Institute EBP Database. This comprehensive database covers a wide range of medical, nursing, and health science specialties and includes a unique suite of information that's been analyzed, appraised, and prepared by expert reviewers at JBI so you can integrate the world's best evidence into your practice:

- Evidence Summaries
- Evidence-Based Recommended Practices
- Best Practice Information Sheets
- Systematic Reviews
- Consumer Information Sheets - Systematic Review Protocols
- Technical Reports

Also included in the JBI EBP Database is a subscription to JBI Database of Systematic Reviews and Implementation Reports. The JBI Database of Systematic Reviews and Implementation Reports is a refereed, online journal that publishes systematic review protocols and systematic reviews of healthcare research following the JBI methodology and undertaken by the Joanna Briggs Institute and its international collaborating centers and groups. These reviews may be of quantitative or qualitative research data, text and/or opinion, relate to economic data or combinations of the above. The JBI Database of Systematic Reviews and Implementation Reports also publishes the Institute's implementation reports that present the findings of projects that seek to implement the best available evidence into practice.

NEW JOURNALS:

Subscriptions to these two e-journals will begin on Jan. 1, 2018:

- Journal of the American College of Nutrition
- High Altitude Medicine and Biology
